

Negotiation for the North Pole Expedition - Popular Sales Training Games

This exciting and challenging Sales Game helps develop the skills for successful negotiation and sales.

Train your staff to think about benefits rather than features and how to negotiate a 'win win' situation

Make your sales training lively, interesting and realistic with the easy to use activities in this game.

This sales training game requires the participants to identify the needs of the customer in order to make an appropriate sales offer. They must also ensure the customer feels comfortable with the purchase.

This will be achieved by asking the right questions in order to identify the need before offering the solution confidently and enthusiastically.

This game includes the following interactive challenges:

- Individual sales game
- Group negotiation game
- Interactive debrief session
- Enhanced selling skills game
- Enhanced negotiation skills game.

How it works

'One Step Further' is a charity which provides assistance for people needing artificial limbs to enable them to walk.

Their main public awareness and charity event this year is to arrange an expedition to the North Pole. Some of the equipment has been donated by companies, but they still need to buy some for the team of volunteers who will take part in the trek.

Participants take on the role of a sales executive for different companies that specialise in providing equipment for expeditions and extreme conditions. They have been selected to attend a sales meeting with a Director of the charity and other interested parties.

They are given details of the equipment and the cost price to supply it for the expedition. Anything negotiated over the cost price will be a profit for their company.

It is important that each participant make as much profit for their company and add to their sales commission.

After all the sales pitches, the Director of 'One Step Further' tells the participants they like their products, but the total cost of equipment offered by the sales executives is over their budget. If they do not keep within budget the expedition will be cancelled.

Participants need the expedition to go ahead as this is potentially good publicity for their company. So they have to re-negotiate with each other to reduce the total cost and keep a good profit margin.

Potential learning outcomes from the sales game:

- Understand the importance of influencing by selling benefits as opposed to features
- Practice Sales skills
- Influencing techniques
- Effective challenging
- Working towards a 'win win' scenario
- Working as a team
- Objective evaluation of facts presented
- Solving a challenging issue within a fixed time frame
- Objective decision making
- Reflection on their own sales and negotiation skills.
- Effective challenging.

Comments from Users of this Sales Training Game

"I find this game an excellent opportunity to put into practice the sales skills I train. This game covered many different aspects of selling and negotiation that were brought out by the participants in the debrief."

"Very realistic, active and thought provoking. Easy to get delegates into role. So many selling points were covered in a short period of time"

Timing: This business game runs for 1 to 1.5 hours + debrief.

Numbers: 4 to 10 participants (for each game bought).

Who: Staff at any level.

Computer: Not required.

Licence Free: When you buy this training material, there are no restrictions on the number of times you can use it.

Cost to buy: £395 + delivery and VAT (if applicable).

We will also run this game for you, please contact us for details.

For further information please contact:

Liz Garrard
Training Co-ordinator
Elite Training European Ltd
3 Parkers Place
Martlesham Heath
Ipswich
IP5 3UX
Telephone (01473) 610320

Email: games@elitetraining.co.uk
Website: www.elitetraining.co.uk